John St. Clair, the Executive Managing Director | Land Division, holds an impressive 37-year tenure in real estate, specializing in land transactions. His journey began in 1986 with Sherwood Blount and Company Realtors, followed by time with A. Ray Utley and Company Realtors until 1993 when it merged with Henry S. Miller Brokerage, LLC. In 2017, he was a partner at Novus Realty Advisors, LLC, which later merged with Younger Partners.

Throughout his career, John has excelled in land transactions, marketing various property types, including commercial, retail, multi-family, industrial, single-family, mixed-use and investment tracts. He is proficient in buyer representation and development evaluations, with a remarkable track record of selling over 10,000 acres of land in the North Texas region.

As the newly appointed Executive Managing Director of the Land Division, John St. Clair brings his wealth of experience and proven expertise to Younger Partners, solidifying his vital role within the organization. His unwavering commitment to real estate excellence and proficiency in navigating complex land transactions make him an indispensable asset in the industry.
